Major Offered Through:

CORVALLIS	ECAMPUS
CASCADES	PORTLAND

Linn-Benton
Community College

Psychology

Psychology is the scientific study of behavior and the mind. It seeks to understand how the environment influences our thoughts, feelings, and actions. Psychology is a broad field that includes areas such as clinical psychology, counseling psychology, and experimental psychology. The major in psychology at Linn-Benton Community College is designed to provide students with a strong foundation in the principles and methods of psychology, as well as the opportunity to explore specialized areas of interest.

The psychology major at Linn-Benton Community College is a 42-credit program that includes a core of general education courses, a core of psychology courses, and a choice of electives. The major is designed to prepare students for careers in a variety of fields, including counseling, research, and education. Students who complete the major will have a strong understanding of the scientific method and the ability to apply psychological principles to real-world situations.
