As part of Tribute Month April 2015
Centro Cultural César Chávez, Oregon Multicultural Archives, &
Center for Latino/a Studies and Engagement (CL@SE) presents

Milagro’s Bilingual National Touring Production

Join us Tuesday April 14th for a workshop and performance of Milagro’s national touring production Searching for Aztlán: A Journey to the Past and Present of Chicano Pride written & directed by Lakin Valdez.

Searching for Aztlán chronicles one high school teacher’s journey to re-energize her support of the Mexican American Studies Program in Tucson, Arizona’s Tucson Unified School District which was dismantled in 2012. It is a biting and satirical journey in search of lost identity and culture! In addition to the play, be sure to RSVP for Milagro’s “Journeys” workshop, which uses a combination of Boal, commedia and improvisation techniques to engage participants.

The Workshop
Tuesday April 14th
1-2:30pm
Centro Cultural César Chávez
RSVP Required by Friday, April 10th
Email: natalia.fernandez@oregonstate.edu

The Performance
Tuesday April 14th
6-8pm
MU Ballroom
Free and Open to the Public
Appropriate for ages 14+

For event information or accommodations for disabilities, contact the Centro Cultural César Chávez at 541-737-3790 or melisa.lopez@oregonstate.edu

Special Thanks to Our Co-Sponsors:

Center for Latino/a Studies and Engagement (CL@SE)
College Assistance Migrant Program (CAMP)
Difference, Power, and Discrimination (DPD) Program
Social Change and Leadership Programs
School of Writing, Literature, and Film
University Housing and Dining Services
Ethnic Studies

OSU Libraries & Press Special Collections & Archives Research Center
Milagro, a Latino based theatre group with a MainStage in Portland, Oregon, providing extraordinary Latino theatre, culture and arts education experiences for the enrichment of all communities

www.milagro.org

#EstamosUnidosOSU