

PUBLIC POLICY GRADUATE PROGRAMS

OREGON STATE UNIVERSITY, CORVALLIS

Our interdisciplinary graduate programs are uniquely positioned to integrate groundbreaking science into emerging policies, practices and understandings of the world that will impact and influence local, regional and international policy decisions.

MASTER OF PUBLIC POLICY AT OSU

Oregon State University offers the Master of Public Policy (MPP) to graduate students interested in energy policy, environmental policy, international policy, law and crime policy, science and technology policy, social policy and rural policy. The program is offered by faculty in the Economics, Political Science and Sociology Programs in the School of Public Policy. MPP students can also design programs of study with faculty in such colleges as Agricultural Sciences, Education, Engineering, Forestry, Health and Human Sciences, Liberal Arts, Earth Ocean, and Atmospheric Sciences, and Science. The program is offered both on campus and by distance education. The MPP is accredited by the NASPAA Commission on Peer Review and Accreditation.

Further Information: liberalarts.oregonstate.edu/spp/mpp

PHD IN PUBLIC POLICY AT OSU

Oregon State University offers a Ph.D. in Public Policy to graduate students interested in the study and practice of policy as applied to issues critical to Oregonians and the world, which draws on the traditional strengths and emerging signature areas of OSU. While there is a science of policy including theoretical and methodological approaches that PhD students are expected to master, the discipline of policy is closely connected to the practice of policy design, implementation, and assessment. This full-time program is designed to ensure that students interact with policy-makers as well as the knowledge-producers who support policy decisions. #

Further Information: liberalarts.oregonstate.edu/spp/phd

A STRONG, UNIQUE PROGRAM

- OSU is one of only two universities in the nation to hold land, sea, space and sun grant designations.
- Our graduate programs are highly interdisciplinary. In addition to our core faculty in Political Science, Sociology and Economics, you can work with a great selection of affiliate faculty across campus and beyond in order to receive the best and most relevant education preparing you to develop relevant public policy solutions.
- Our programs are very international and culturally diverse. Students hail from all continents, and from all states in the US. We have a strong cooperation with the university's Diversity & Cultural Engagement program, which supports seven cultural resource centers on campus.
- We provide a welcoming and collegial work environment, and value teamwork and open-mindedness, and a dedication to solve the problems of today and tomorrow.
- We value experiential learning and offer participation in international field schools in international and rural policy.
- Our OSU Policy Analysis Laboratory allows students to work with community clients on real-world solutions.

CONTACT US TODAY

Our web site holds detailed information about our core curriculum, admissions process and requirements. We also welcome you to contact us to explore your possibilities at Oregon State University's School of Public Policy.

Brent S. Steel, Graduate Program Director
bsteel@oregonstate.edu
(541) 737-6133

Philipp Kneis, Assistant Graduate Program Director
philipp.kneis@oregonstate.edu
(541) 737-1325