

Inflation-adjusted change in Mandatory, Discretionary, and Interest Outlays by Presidential Term, 1964 to estimated 2004, in Percent

The constant-dollar data used here are from Budget 2004 Historical Tables, Table 8.2.
 The discretionary-mandatory classification was introduced in 1962, so the first complete presidential term to which it applies is that of Lyndon Johnson.
 Interest officially is part of mandatory spending but is broken out separately here.