This graph shows the national government budget in billions and trillions of dollars and also as percent of the economy (that is, in “fingers-and-toes” sized numbers), which portray changes over time in ways much easier to comprehend than billions and trillions.